

Production where you are the only composers/lyricists

If you release music/lyrics where you are the only rights owners (see information below), special terms and prices apply. The terms apply only in the following three instances:

1. The NCB customer is an individual/solo artist

The NCB customer = only rights owner on the tracks released. The term is also valid if the rights owner has given shares to one/more arrangers.

2. The NCB customer is a member of a music band

NCB customer is a member of a music band (not a company/business organisation). The members of the music band = the only rights owners on the tracks released.
(It must be one music band only – not a union or group of music bands).

3. The NCB customer is a company/business organisation

The NCB customer is a company. The owner(s) of the company = the rights owners(s) of the tracks released. All rights owners must be owners of the company/business organisation.

The NCB customer = the one who is responsible for the release of the music and responsible for the payment of copyright to NCB.

The rights owner (s) = the one (s) who owns all the rights to the music/lyrics/arrangements/music publishing etc. All rights owner(s) must be members of NCB.

NCB disclaims all responsibility for the above terms being observed – this responsibility solely rests with you.

Apply for a licence and pay copyright online, by using our music application.

IMPORTANT! On the screen display “Specific type of production” on the application, you must tick off the heading “Is it a production where you are the only composers/lyricists?” and then finish the completion of the application form.

How much?

NCB will invoice only an administrative fee as indicated below. The price includes up to a maximum of 5,000 copies per release – irrespective of the release being a re-release of previous recordings or a totally new release.
